Keeping you informed on how we have tackled neighbourhood issues.

PCSO's from Belle Vale Police Station have had the opportunity of working with Andy Coltart for over 2 years. In that time forging strong links within the community and working with youths, who have found themselves involved in anti social behaviour.

Through various confidence building activities and engagement the youths have gained new skills and values. It has also enabled interaction between Merseyside Police and the community at all levels, building valued links and mutual respect.

Thanks to the activities provided by Andy Coltart, the individual becomes empowered through communication, team work and confidence building. Belle Vale Neighbourhood Policing team's have participated in several projects with Andy, with each case each individual involved are less likely to engage in anti social behaviour. This is a massive credit to the work and engagement of Andy and his team.
